

LUDWIG-
MAXIMILIANS-
UNIVERSITÄT
MÜNCHEN

Module Catalog
Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

(120 ECTS credits)

Based on the Prüfungs- und Studienordnung of 21 January 2020

88/491/---/M0/H/2019

Issued on 04 May 2020

Contents

Abbreviations and annotations	3
Module: P 1 American Studies: Introduction	4
Module: WP 1 Literature and Media: Basic Research.....	6
Module: WP 2 Literary and Media Studies: Basic Theories and Concepts.....	8
Module: WP 3 History and Society: Basic Research	10
Module: WP 4 Historiography: Basic Theories and Concepts.....	12
Module: P 2 American Studies: Schools of Thought.....	14
Module: WP 5 Literature and Media: Advanced Research.....	16
Module: WP 6 Literary and Media Studies: Advanced Theories and Concepts.....	18
Module: WP 7 History and Society: Advanced Research	20
Module: WP 8 Historiography: Advanced Theories and Concepts.....	22
Module: P 3 American Studies: Current Approaches.....	24
Module: WP 9 Literature and Media: Advanced Case Studies	26
Module: WP 10 Interdisciplinary Theories and Concepts	28
Module: WP 11 History and Society: Advanced Case Studies.....	30
Module: WP 12 Independent Study Project.....	32
Module: P 4 Master's Thesis Module.....	34

Abbreviations and annotations

CP	Credit Points, ECTS credits
ECTS	European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System
h	hours
SoSe	summer semester
SWS	contact hours
WiSe	winter semester
WP	compulsory elective course/module
P	mandatory course/module

1. The ECTS credits assigned in the Module Catalog are designated as follows: Credit Points not listed in parentheses are awarded when the pertinent examination of the module or module parts have/has been completed successfully. Credit Points in parentheses are listed for calculatory purposes only.
2. The semester for taking a module can either be binding or may be considered as a recommendation, depending on the applicable data in Anlage 2 of the Prüfungs- und Studienordnung for your Program. In this Module catalog, the options are indicated as „scheduled semester“ and „recommended semester“.
3. Please note: The Module Catalog is merely intended to serve as an orientation whereas the provisions of the applicable version of the Prüfungs- und Studienordnung (in German only) of your Program are legally binding. See: www.lmu.de/studienangebot and select your Program.

Module: P 1 American Studies: Introduction

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Master's Seminar	P 1.1 Academic Fields and Topics	WiSe	30-45 h (2-3 SWS)	240-225 h	(9)
Lecture	P 1.2 Lecture on Academic Fields and Topics	WiSe	30 h (2 SWS)	60 h	(3)

For successful completion of the module, 12 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 4-5 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 360 hours have to be invested.

Module type Mandatory module with mandatory courses

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines None

Entry requirements For more information on reading lists and online resources in the Lecture and Master's seminar of Module P 1, please consult the course catalog on the online platform LSF.

Semester Recommended semester: 1

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students are introduced to American Studies with its diverse academic fields and topics. They are introduced to the history, politics, and economy of North America as well as to the methods of literature, visual culture, and media analysis.

Learning outcomes Students gain knowledge of analysis, interpretation, and contextualization of both factual and fictional texts. They also gain knowledge of relevant theories, methods, and approaches of cultural history as well as the concrete usage of such in cultural-historical case studies.

Type of examination Thesis

Type of assessment The successful completion of the module will be graded.

Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.

Responsible contact Prof. Dr. Christof Decker
Prof. Dr. Michael Hochgeschwender

Language(s) English

Additional information None

Module: WP 1 Literature and Media: Basic Research

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Master's seminar	WP 1.1 Texts, Genres, Periods 1	WiSe	30-45 h (2-3 SWS)	240-225 h	(9)
Reading course	WP 1.2 Readings on Texts, Genres, Periods 1	WiSe	15-30 h (1-2 SWS)	75-60 h	(3)

For successful completion of the module, 12 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 3-5 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 360 hours have to be invested.

Module type Compulsory elective module with mandatory courses

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines The module can be chosen in compliance with the following rules: Modules with a total value of 6 ECTS credits have to be taken from the compulsory elective modules WP 1 – WP 4.

Entry requirements For more information on reading lists and online resources in the Master's seminar and Reading course of Module WP 1, please consult the course catalog on the online platform LSF.

Semester Recommended semester: 1

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students are introduced to a variety of texts, genres, periods, and media. They are presented with overviews and in-depth studies of prominent periods and text types, which are also connected to dominant theories and interpretive paradigms.

Learning outcomes Students gain a foundational knowledge in text and media analysis as well as the study of historical periodization.

Type of examination Thesis

Type of assessment The successful completion of the module will be graded.

Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.

Responsible contact	Prof. Dr. Christof Decker
----------------------------	---------------------------

Language(s)	English
--------------------	---------

Additional information	None
-------------------------------	------

Module: WP 2 Literary and Media Studies: Basic Theories and Concepts

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Foundation course	WP 2.1 Approaches to the Study of Textuality and Mediality 1	WiSe	30 h (2 SWS)	150 h	(6)

For successful completion of the module, 6 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 2 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 180 hours have to be invested.

Module type Compulsory elective module with mandatory course

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines The module can be chosen in compliance with the following rules: Modules with a total value of 6 ECTS credits have to be taken from the compulsory elective modules WP 1 – WP 4.

Entry requirements For more information on the reading list and online resources in the Foundation course of Module WP 2, please consult the course catalog on the online platform LSF.

Semester Recommended semester: 1

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students are introduced to basic methods for literature and media analysis, genre terminology, and diverse literature and media theories.

Learning outcomes Students gain practice in text and media analysis as well as competence in the rudiments of literary historical methods by focusing on concrete examples as well as in-depth discussions.

Type of examination Essay or exercise portfolio

Type of assessment The successful completion of the module will be graded.

Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.

Responsible contact Prof. Dr. Christof Decker

Language(s) English

Additional information None

Module: WP 3 History and Society: Basic Research

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Master's seminar	WP 3.1 Social and Political Topics 1	WiSe	30-45 h (2-3 SWS)	240-225 h	(9)
Reading course	WP 3.2 Readings on Social and Political Topics 1	WiSe	15-30 h (1-2 SWS)	75-60 h	(3)

For successful completion of the module, 12 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 3-5 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 360 hours have to be invested.

Module type Compulsory elective module with mandatory courses

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines The module can be chosen in compliance with the following rules: Modules with a total value of 6 ECTS credits have to be taken from the compulsory elective modules WP 1 – WP 4.

Entry requirements For more information on reading lists and online resources in the Master's seminar and Reading course of Module WP 3, please consult the course catalog on the online platform LSF.

Semester Recommended semester: 1

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students are given an overview of current research debates in history, the social sciences, and cultural studies in the USA and Canada. They are given an overview of the epochs of American history, the political system and the most important cultural, economic, and social events.

Learning outcomes Students gain increased skills for approaching theoretical and subject-specific debates as well as a deeper understanding of theoretical connections. Students also gain a foundational knowledge of historical processes and methods.

Type of examination Thesis

Type of assessment The successful completion of the module will be graded.

Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed

successfully.

Responsible contact	Prof. Dr. Michael Hochgeschwender
----------------------------	-----------------------------------

Language(s)	English
--------------------	---------

Additional information	None
-------------------------------	------

Module: WP 4 Historiography: Basic Theories and Concepts

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Foundation course	WP 4.1 Approaches to the Study of History 1	WiSe	30 h (2 SWS)	150 h	(6)

For successful completion of the module, 6 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 2 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 180 hours have to be invested.

Module type Compulsory elective module with mandatory course

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines The module can be chosen in compliance with the following rules: Modules with a total value of 6 ECTS credits have to be taken from the compulsory elective modules WP 1 – WP 4.

Entry requirements For more information on the reading list and online resources in the Foundation course of Module WP 4, please consult the course catalog on the online platform LSF.

Semester Recommended semester: 1

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students are introduced to diverse approaches to the study of history and society as well as basic concepts of historiographical research.

Learning outcomes Students gain practice in the methods of culture history while examining concrete examples and engaging in rigorous, critical discussions.

Type of examination Essay or exercise portfolio

Type of assessment The successful completion of the module will be graded.

Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.

Responsible contact Prof. Dr. Michael Hochgeschwender

Language(s) English

Additional information

None

Module: P 2 American Studies: Schools of Thought

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society (Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Master's seminar	P 2.1 Major Research Traditions	SoSe	30-45 h (2-3 SWS)	240-225 h	(9)
Lecture	P 2.2 Lecture on Major Research Traditions	SoSe	30 h (2 SWS)	60 h	(3)

For successful completion of the module, 12 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 4-5 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 360 hours have to be invested.

Module type Mandatory module with mandatory courses

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines None

Entry requirements We recommend completing the compulsory Module P 1 before attending the compulsory Module P 2.

Semester Recommended semester: 2

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students are introduced to major research traditions and schools of thought in American studies and historiography. They study selected epochs, genres, and theories of North American literature and history along with relevant methods and theories from history, the social sciences, and cultural studies.

Learning outcomes Students gain advanced knowledge of various methodologies used for examining and analyzing the course material. They become acquainted with major research traditions through surveys and in-depth analyses.

Type of examination Thesis

Type of assessment The successful completion of the module will be graded.

Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.

Responsible contact Prof. Dr. Christof Decker
Prof. Dr. Michael Hochgeschwender

Language(s) English

Additional information None

Module: WP 5 Literature and Media: Advanced Research

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society (Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Master's seminar	WP 5.1 Texts, Genres, Periods 2	SoSe	30-45 h (2-3 SWS)	240-225 h	(9)
Reading course	WP 5.2 Readings on Texts, Genres, Periods 2	SoSe	15-30 h (1-2 SWS)	75-60 h	(3)

For successful completion of the module, 12 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 3-5 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 360 hours have to be invested.

Module type Compulsory elective module with mandatory courses

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines The module can be chosen in compliance with the following rules: Modules with a total value of 6 ECTS credits have to be taken from the compulsory elective modules WP 5 – WP 8.

Entry requirements We recommend completing two elective modules on basic research and concepts in the first semester before attending advanced elective modules in the second semester.

Semester Recommended semester: 2

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students examine advanced themes and problems dealing with periods of literary and media history, genres, text types, and interpretive theories.

Learning outcomes Students gain both in-depth knowledge of literary and audiovisual forms in their cultural contexts and an increased ability to study literary epochs, text types, theories, and themes.

Type of examination Thesis

Type of assessment The successful completion of the module will be graded.

Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.

Responsible contact Prof. Dr. Christof Decker

Language(s) English

Additional information None

Module: WP 6 Literary and Media Studies: Advanced Theories and Concepts

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Foundation course	WP 6.1 Approaches to the Study of Textuality and Mediality 2	SoSe	30 h (2 SWS)	150 h	(6)

For successful completion of the module, 6 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 2 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 180 hours have to be invested.

Module type Compulsory elective module with mandatory course

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines The module can be chosen in compliance with the following rules: Modules with a total value of 6 ECTS credits have to be taken from the compulsory elective modules WP 5 – WP 8.

Entry requirements We recommend completing two elective modules on basic research and concepts in the first semester before attending advanced elective modules in the second semester.

Semester Recommended semester: 2

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students study advanced manifestations of literary forms, cultural formations, and audio-visual media.

Learning outcomes Students gain advanced text analysis skills in the fields of literature, cultural theory, and media as well as literary and media history.

Type of examination Essay or exercise portfolio

Type of assessment The successful completion of the module will be graded.

Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.

Responsible contact Prof. Dr. Christof Decker

Language(s) English

Additional information None

Module: WP 7 History and Society: Advanced Research

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society (Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Master's seminar	WP 7.1 Social and Political Topics 2	SoSe	30-45 h (2-3 SWS)	240-225 h	(9)
Reading course	WP 7.2 Readings on Social and Political Topics 2	SoSe	15-30 h (1-2 SWS)	75-60 h	(3)

For successful completion of the module, 12 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 3-5 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 360 hours have to be invested.

Module type Compulsory elective module with mandatory courses

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines The module can be chosen in compliance with the following rules: Modules with a total value of 6 ECTS credits have to be taken from the compulsory elective modules WP 5 – WP 8.

Entry requirements We recommend completing two elective modules on basic research and concepts in the first semester before attending advanced elective modules in the second semester.

Semester Recommended semester: 2

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students study advanced social and political topics of North American cultural history with a special focus on methodological and theoretical problems.

Learning outcomes Students gain in-depth, case-related knowledge of fundamental methodological and theoretical problems as well as exposure to the multiple possible approaches to a cultural history topic.

Type of examination Thesis

Type of assessment The successful completion of the module will be graded.

Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.

Responsible contact Prof. Dr. Michael Hochgeschwender

Language(s) English

Additional information None

Module: WP 8 Historiography: Advanced Theories and Concepts

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Foundation course	WP 8.1 Approaches to the Study of History 2	SoSe	30 h (2 SWS)	150 h	(6)

For successful completion of the module, 6 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 2 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 180 hours have to be invested.

Module type Compulsory elective module with mandatory course

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines The module can be chosen in compliance with the following rules: Modules with a total value of 6 ECTS credits have to be taken from the compulsory elective modules WP 5 – WP 8.

Entry requirements We recommend completing two elective modules on basic research and concepts in the first semester before attending advanced elective modules in the second semester.

Semester Recommended semester: 2

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students are introduced to advanced approaches to the study of history through in-depth examination of selected epochs and topics from North American history and society as well as the political system of the USA and Canada.

Learning outcomes Students gain advanced historical, cultural, social, and political knowledge as well as an in-depth understanding of the methods of culture history while examining concrete examples as well as engaging in focussed, critical discussions.

Type of examination Essay or exercise portfolio

Type of assessment The successful completion of the module will be graded.

Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.

Responsible contact Prof. Dr. Michael Hochgeschwender

Language(s) English

Additional information None

Module: P 3 American Studies: Current Approaches

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Master's seminar	P 3.1 New Fields of Research	WiSe	30-45 h (2-3 SWS)	240-225 h	(9)
Lecture	P 3.2 Lecture on New Fields of Research	WiSe	30 h (2 SWS)	60 h	(3)

For successful completion of the module, 12 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 4-5 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 360 hours have to be invested.

Module type Mandatory module with mandatory courses

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines None

Entry requirements We recommend completing the compulsory Modules P 1 and P 2 before attending Module P 3.

Semester Recommended semester: 3

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students are introduced to new fields of research and current approaches in American studies and the study of American history. Students study selected topics and epochs from North American cultural, literary, and media history with special attention to social and political dimensions.

Learning outcomes Students gain increased ability in relating and interpreting relevant, topic-specific knowledge in the fields of history, literature, media, the social sciences, and cultural studies.

Type of examination Thesis

Type of assessment The successful completion of the module will be graded.

Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.

Responsible contact Prof. Dr. Christof Decker
Prof. Dr. Michael Hochgeschwender

Language(s) English

Additional information None

Module: WP 9 Literature and Media: Advanced Case Studies

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Master's seminar	WP 9.1 Literary and Media Communication	WiSe	30-45 h (2-3 SWS)	240-225 h	(9)
Reading course	WP 9.2 Readings on Literary and Media Communication	WiSe	15-30 h (1-2 SWS)	75-60 h	(3)

For successful completion of the module, 12 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 3-5 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 360 hours have to be invested.

Module type Compulsory elective module with mandatory courses

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines The module can be chosen in compliance with the following rules:
From the elective compulsory modules WP 9 to WP 12, elective compulsory modules with a total value of 18 ECTS points are to be chosen.
Alternatively to the elective modules WP 9 to WP 12, elective modules of 18 ECTS points can be selected from the Common Profile Area of the Humanities and Social Sciences. The elective modules of the subject "American History, Culture and Society (Am)" may not be selected.
Elective modules may only be chosen from either the elective modules WP 9 to WP 12 or from the Common Profile Area of the Humanities and Social Sciences.

Entry requirements We recommend completing the elective module on advanced research in the second semester before attending the elective module on advanced case studies in the third semester.

Semester Recommended semester: 3

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students examine advanced case studies in literary and media communication that deal with crossovers between literary forms, media, cultural formations, and theoretical discourses.

Learning outcomes Students gain advanced skills for independent research in the analysis and interpretation of cultural, literary, media, and theoretical issues.

Type of examination	Thesis
Type of assessment	The successful completion of the module will be graded.
Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits	ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.
Responsible contact	Prof. Dr. Christof Decker
Language(s)	English
Additional information	None

Module: WP 10 Interdisciplinary Theories and Concepts

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Foundation course	WP 10.1 Approaches to Interdisciplinarity	WiSe	30 h (2 SWS)	150 h	(6)

For successful completion of the module, 6 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 2 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 180 hours have to be invested.

Module type Compulsory elective module with mandatory course

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines

The module can be chosen in compliance with the following rules:
From the elective compulsory modules WP 9 to WP 12, elective compulsory modules with a total value of 18 ECTS points are to be chosen.
Alternatively to the elective modules WP 9 to WP 12, elective modules of 18 ECTS points can be selected from the Common Profile Area of the Humanities and Social Sciences. The elective modules of the subject "American History, Culture and Society (Am)" may not be selected.
Elective modules may only be chosen from either the elective modules WP 9 to WP 12 or from the Common Profile Area of the Humanities and Social Sciences.

Entry requirements

We recommend completing the elective module on advanced research including a foundation course in the second semester before attending the elective module on interdisciplinary theories and concepts in the third semester.

Semester Recommended semester: 3

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content

Students are introduced to interdisciplinary theories, concepts and methods for the study of history, literature, culture, and media.

Learning outcomes

Students gain practice in new methods and techniques for the analysis of history, culture, and society while also engaging in discussions about concrete historical, cultural, and social issues.

Type of examination	Essay or exercise portfolio
Type of assessment	The successful completion of the module will be graded.
Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits	ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.
Responsible contact	Prof. Dr. Christof Decker Prof. Dr. Michael Hochgeschwender
Language(s)	English
Additional information	None

Module: WP 11 History and Society: Advanced Case Studies

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Master's seminar	WP 11.1 Historical Events and Processes	WiSe	30-45 h (2-3 SWS)	240-225 h	(9)
Reading course	WP 11.2 Readings on Historical Events and Processes	WiSe	15-30 h (1-2 SWS)	75-60 h	(3)

For successful completion of the module, 12 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 3-5 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 360 hours have to be invested.

Module type Compulsory elective module with mandatory courses

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines

The module can be chosen in compliance with the following rules:

From the elective compulsory modules WP 9 to WP 12, elective compulsory modules with a total value of 18 ECTS points are to be chosen.

Alternatively to the elective modules WP 9 to WP 12, elective modules of 18 ECTS points can be selected from the Common Profile Area of the Humanities and Social Sciences. The elective modules of the subject "American History, Culture and Society (Am)" may not be selected.

Elective modules may only be chosen from either the elective modules WP 9 to WP 12 or from the Common Profile Area of the Humanities and Social Sciences.

Entry requirements We recommend completing the elective module on advanced research in the second semester before attending the elective module on advanced case studies in the third semester.

Semester Recommended semester: 3

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students examine advanced case studies of historical events and processes focusing on the historical, social, and cultural development of the USA and Canada.

Learning outcomes Students gain advanced skills for independent research in the analysis and interpretation of historical, social, political, and cultural issues.

Type of examination	Thesis
Type of assessment	The successful completion of the module will be graded.
Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits	ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.
Responsible contact	Prof. Dr. Michael Hochgeschwender
Language(s)	English
Additional information	None

Module: WP 12 Independent Study Project

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Study project	WP 12.1 Independent Research and Field Work	WiSe	30 h (2 SWS)	150 h	(6)

For successful completion of the module, 6 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 2 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 180 hours have to be invested.

Module type Compulsory elective module with mandatory course

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines The module can be chosen in compliance with the following rules:
From the elective compulsory modules WP 9 to WP 12, elective compulsory modules with a total value of 18 ECTS points are to be chosen.
Alternatively to the elective modules WP 9 to WP 12, elective modules of 18 ECTS points can be selected from the Common Profile Area of the Humanities and Social Sciences. The elective modules of the subject "American History, Culture and Society (Am)" may not be selected.
Elective modules may only be chosen from either the elective modules WP 9 to WP 12 or from the Common Profile Area of the Humanities and Social Sciences.

Entry requirements We recommend completing the elective modules on advanced research in the second semester before choosing to work on an Independent Study project in the third semester.

Semester Recommended semester: 3

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students work on independent research and fieldwork. They develop and implement individual academic, methodological, creative, practical, or professional interests into a project.

Learning outcomes Students gain the ability to pursue new methods and forms of research or to transfer their academic knowledge to professional life beyond the university. Students gain practice in the various skills required in relevant career fields.

Type of examination Report

Type of assessment	The successful completion of the module will be graded.
Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits	ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.
Responsible contact	Prof. Dr. Christof Decker Prof. Dr. Michael Hochgeschwender
Language(s)	English
Additional information	We recommend contacting potential supervisors of an Independent Study project in due time.

Module: P 4 Master's Thesis Module

Program Master's Program: American History, Culture and Society
(Master of Arts, M.A.)

Related module parts

Course type	Course (mandatory)	Rotation	Contact hours	Self-study hours	ECTS
Master's thesis	P 4.1 Master's Thesis	WiSe und SoSe	-	810 h	(27)
Advanced seminar	P 4.2 Writing a Thesis	WiSe und SoSe	30 h (2 SWS)	60 h	(3)

For successful completion of the module, 30 ECTS credits have to be acquired. Class attendance averages about 2 contact hours. Including time for self-study, 900 hours have to be invested.

Module type Mandatory module with mandatory course

Usability of the module in other Programs None

Elective guidelines None

Entry requirements We recommend completing the compulsory and elective modules in the third semester before starting to work on the Master's thesis.

Semester Recommended semester: 4

Duration The completion of the module takes 1 semester.

Content Students learn how to write an academic research paper on a topic of their choice. They are introduced to methods for the preparation, research, and completion of a thesis.

Learning outcomes Students gain the skills necessary to complete the Master's thesis in the area of American History, Culture and Society. They gain advanced skills in academic writing and argumentation as well as in the oral presentation of their selected MA topic.

Type of examination Master's thesis

Type of assessment The successful completion of the module will be graded.

Requirements for the gain of ECTS credits ECTS credits will be granted when the module examination (or the examination of pertinent mandatory and potential elective compulsory module parts) has been completed successfully.

Responsible contact

Prof. Dr. Christof Decker

Prof. Dr. Michael Hochgeschwender

Language(s)

English

Additional information

We recommend contacting potential supervisors of a Master's thesis in due time, i.e. during the course of the third semester.